SPORTS

SPORT AT THE CAMP

Athletics Flourishing at 10th Infantry Headquarters.

A good all-round athlete has arrived at Camp McKinley in the person of the son of Major Van Vliet, the veteran sportsman of the 10th Infantry.

The young man is a graduate of the Columbian University, Washington, where he played second base on the varsity nine and end on the football team. In 1904 he won the inter-scholastic tennis tournament.

Van Vliet, Jr., has been engaged in surveying in Colorado during the past year in connection with the United States Geological Survey and is at present visiting Honolulu on leave of absence.

He and his father put up a strong doubles game of tennis and achieved much fame, playing as a team at the Presidio.

A great deal of tennis is being played at Camp McKinley at present, by the officers. The camp court is now in excellent condition and very fast.

Baseball is booming at the camp, the recent decisive victory of the Tenth over the Metropolitan Meat Market nine, a very fair team, having opened the eyes of the soldiers to the possibility of obtaining yet greater honors on the diamond.

The 10th Infantry team has come along wonderfully, having to their credit wins from the Chinese Athletic Club, the Marines and the Met. Meats. Today there is hardly a nine outside of the senior league combinations that has a license to beat the Camp McKinleyites.

The soldiers are now out with a challenge to play the newly-formed all-Portuguese nine.

If it were certain that the Tenth were going to remain here permanently, the team would take a chance in one of the leagues. The stay of the garrison, however, is at the best indefinite and therefore the Tenth will continue to play such unattached teams as may be knocking about the bushes.

The soldiers need another pitcher. Fenner is a good man but when he can't play there is no one to take his place unless there be an as yet undiscovered twirler among the recently-arrived men.

The monthly athletic meets at the camp keep sporting interest at a high pitch. These affairs are required by the War Department and the commanding officer fixes the dates when they shall be held.

All the enlisted men participate in the events, regardless of ability, the entering of each man being compulsory.

The men are graded in order that everyone may have a chance to be returned a winner. At one meeting the crackerjacks oppose each other and at the next field day the good men are barred.

Company rivalry is keen and the sports have been instrumental in producing a commendable and healthy esprit de corps.

At present the best 100 and 220-yard men are Horne of Co. M, and Cassidy of Co. L.

Co. K has a mortgage on the shot-putters, Dykes and Armstrong being the camp record-holders.

Castle of Co. M is the champion running high jumper and so far no one has been found able to make him extend himself.

Thompson of Co. L and Carey of Co. M are the Tenth's star broad jumpers. The next field day will probably be held in Kapiolani Park, the last Friday of this month.

Just how much the post has benefited athletically by the recent draft of new men, is not yet known, as the new material has not been tried out as yet. Great things are expected of more than one individual, however.

There are a number of good handball players at the camp and there is some talk of a tournament in the near future. There is a very useful handball court at the post.

The men mainly responsible for the vogue which athletics enjoys at Camp McKinley are Major Van Vliet and Captains Schoeffel and Bush, the two former officers being old and tried experts at most American games.

THE DEVIL OF THE POND

Natives Unique Device to Frighten Fish Stealers.

There is a native man at Waikiki who is absolutely and genuinely up-to-date in his method of protecting his property from the ravages of two-legged nocturnal marauders.

The man in question owns a fish pond situated on the makai side of Waikiki road and not far from the Hawaiian Hotel Annex.

This pond is stocked with fat amama or mullet and has proved a great temptation to certain collectors of unconsidered trifles, with a fish tooth.

The owner found that he was losing more fish than he was netting himself and hit upon the plan of placing a lot of bushes in the water in order that when the pond was netted at night the branches might become entangled in the fine meshes of the net and so frustrate the plunderer's designs.

This plan is adopted with telling effect in the fields of England where poachers continually use nets for the capture of hares, partridges and pheasants.

For a time the scheme worked well but it was not long ere the trespassers got wise to the device to bring their labor to naught. They then removed every obstacle from the pond before netting it and soon managed to have a clear way.

The proprietor of the pond then hit upon another idea which appears to be working like a charm.

He sank a number of posts in the pond with the tops rising about a foot from the water and from post to post ran an entanglement of wires.

Some of the wires led to the man's house and connected with a couple of old guns which were loaded with rock salt. When a man stumbled over a wire in the dark, the triggers of the guns were pulled, there was a flash of fire and a roar in the night and a very scared man completed the interesting ensemble.

Soon after the trap was laid it was sprung. Two Chinamen looking for a cheap breakfast, collided with a wire and the result so terrified them that they departed in frantic haste, leaving their net behind them.

The news of the devil-pond soon spread among the natives in the district and one couldn't be induced to put a net into that particular pond for a hundred dollar bill.

Today there are more mullet in the pond than ever before. They fairly jostle each other for room.

PA-U AGAIN IN FASHION

Graceful Divided Riding Skirt Returns to Favor.

The pa-u or Hawaiian divided riding skirt is coming into fashion again and the coming floral automobile festival is responsible for its return to vogue.

A feature of the carnival will be a parade of horseback riders wearing the old style flowing pa-u. This is certain to attract immense attention.

In the monarchy days all the Hawaiian world went a-riding. Every native woman is a born equestrienne and bands of from twenty to fifty would canter abroad by day or moonlit night.

The pa-u worn were of the most fantastic colors, which, flashing in the sun, presented a kaleidoscopic effect. Annexation came and with it the haole with the business soul and no love of a horse or the diversion to be obtained therefrom. The pa-u went the way of the crinoline and the bustle and the island-bred was turned out to grass.

With the announcement of the coming parade and the distribution of posters, has come a revival of interest in riding and the pa-u.

The recent moonlight evenings have seen a number of riders of both sexes on the streets, the women being garmented in pa-u style.

The dressmakers of the city are working night and day on pa-u orders and it looks as if hundreds of these graceful garments would grace the parade on February 22.

THE SALE OF CRESCUS

"Onlooker" writes to the American Horse Breeder the following interesting gossip about the sale of Cresceus: Before the sale of Cresceus there was much speculation indulged in as to the probable price that he would bring; guesses ranged all the way from $7000 to $75,000. There were just two bids on him—the first at $20,000, and it took Auctioneer Bain considerable time to find the man who made the offer, so quietly did he speak, and then Mr. Savage's bid of $21,000, at which figure he was knocked down to the Minneapolis horseman.

Doubtless the fact that Cresceus has but five in the list, and none of them notable, though we believe the majority of his get are but yearlings and two-year olds, and that his future earning capacity depends entirely on his stud career, operated to keep down the price on him, and doubtless the odium attached to the Wichita scandal had its effect, too.

Probably two or three years ago he would have brought at least three times what he sold for last week. We are informed on reliable authority that Ketcham refused an offer of $105,000 for him, made by a Winnipeg syndicate at the winter meeting at Ottawa in February, 1904.

That Cresceus is the greatest trotter, taking him all in all, that the world has ever seen, will, we think, be acknowledged by every candid horseman. As to his success or non-success in the stud it is, of course, too early to declare positively one way or the other, but it is not too early to say that up to the present his get have not made good the expectation of him as a sire, and there is no question that he has been bred to some of the best mares in the country. It is not reasonable to suppose that the colts sired by him during his first seasons in the stud, after such strenuous campaigns as he went through, will prove his best. We shall look for his later foals to be better. It is altogether likely that he will sire some, perhaps many, good trotters, and, perhaps, too, some great trotters, but it must be conceded that "perhaps" implies a future contingency, a matter of speculation. Horsemen are getting more critical and exacting every year, and therefore more reluctant to put down their coin for "may bes." Their touchstone is "show me," and especially for a sire to head a stud, particularly when to procure such involves the expenditure of a large sum of money.

Mr. Savage will give Cresceus the best of opportunities to demonstrate his ability as a sire, for he will be well advertised, and Mr. Savage does not believe in excessive stud service for a horse. He will limit him to not more than 60 mares the season. Of course Cresceus is worth more to Mr. Savage than to any other man, for in securing him he has got a champion trotter, the most famous in the history of the light-harness horse, as a stable companion to the champion pacer, Dan Patch, and as an advertisement for his products the pair will be a great card.

"Old Goldrox has gone bankrupt." "You don't say! What was the trouble?" "Spent all his money trying to learn how to live the simple life."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, and it is taken in accordance with a broken-down system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is INCREASED VITALITY—VIGOR—VITAL STRENGTH AND ENERGY to prove that as night succeeds the day this may throw off those morbid feelings, and experience be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic
